Publisher's Note

Throughout life, we all encounter countless moments—some bright, some difficult. Moments of thrilling discovery, Moments of farewell, Moments spent with those we love, Moments of solitude, Moments of pride in our achievements and moments of doubt in ourselves. Each time, we find our own way to remember and to move forward.

One proven way — (By the writer and the editor) — is to pause, let the dust settle, and see the situation from a different angle. And what better time to do so than on a slow morning? Sleeping in under a soft blanket.

Waking to brew your favorite coffee or green tea. Sketching loose plans to explore somewhere new. And savoring a brunch that nourishes both body and spirit.

Brunch Near Me is a work that speaks directly to the heart. It invites you to slow down in a world that constantly pushes us to be something and to do more. It reminds you to enjoy the scenery along the way, while you're making choices for yourself. Perhaps, in those unhurried hours, you'll discover a version of yourself you've never met before.

I feel like I'm chasing something,

but no matter how hard I try, I can never catch up.

Actually,

I've even started to forget what it is I'm chasing.

Ah...
The more I think about it, the more my mind just goes blank.

Maybe I'll just go find something delicious to eat instead.

it feels so

I love using frother;

Tea from a friend.

A chopstick rest,
repurposed for my bamboo

It's been two years already...
time flies so fast,

but there were those hard times
when every second felt so slow.

I wonder if it's okay to just keep doing the same things.

Ah...

Because of that,
my friend told me:

Go touch

I'll come back to

Check the window locks.

Check the route.

Today's menu might be too much for just me.

Most of the books are in Japanese.

So I usually go for the picture book.

Especially children's storybooks.

Sometimes I find old manga with such beautiful art styles.

I ended up buying one,
after all.

A 10-minute walk from here and I'll be at...

สุขุมวิท
Sukhumvit

Khet

You can store your bag in here.

Oh, thank you!

What should I get?

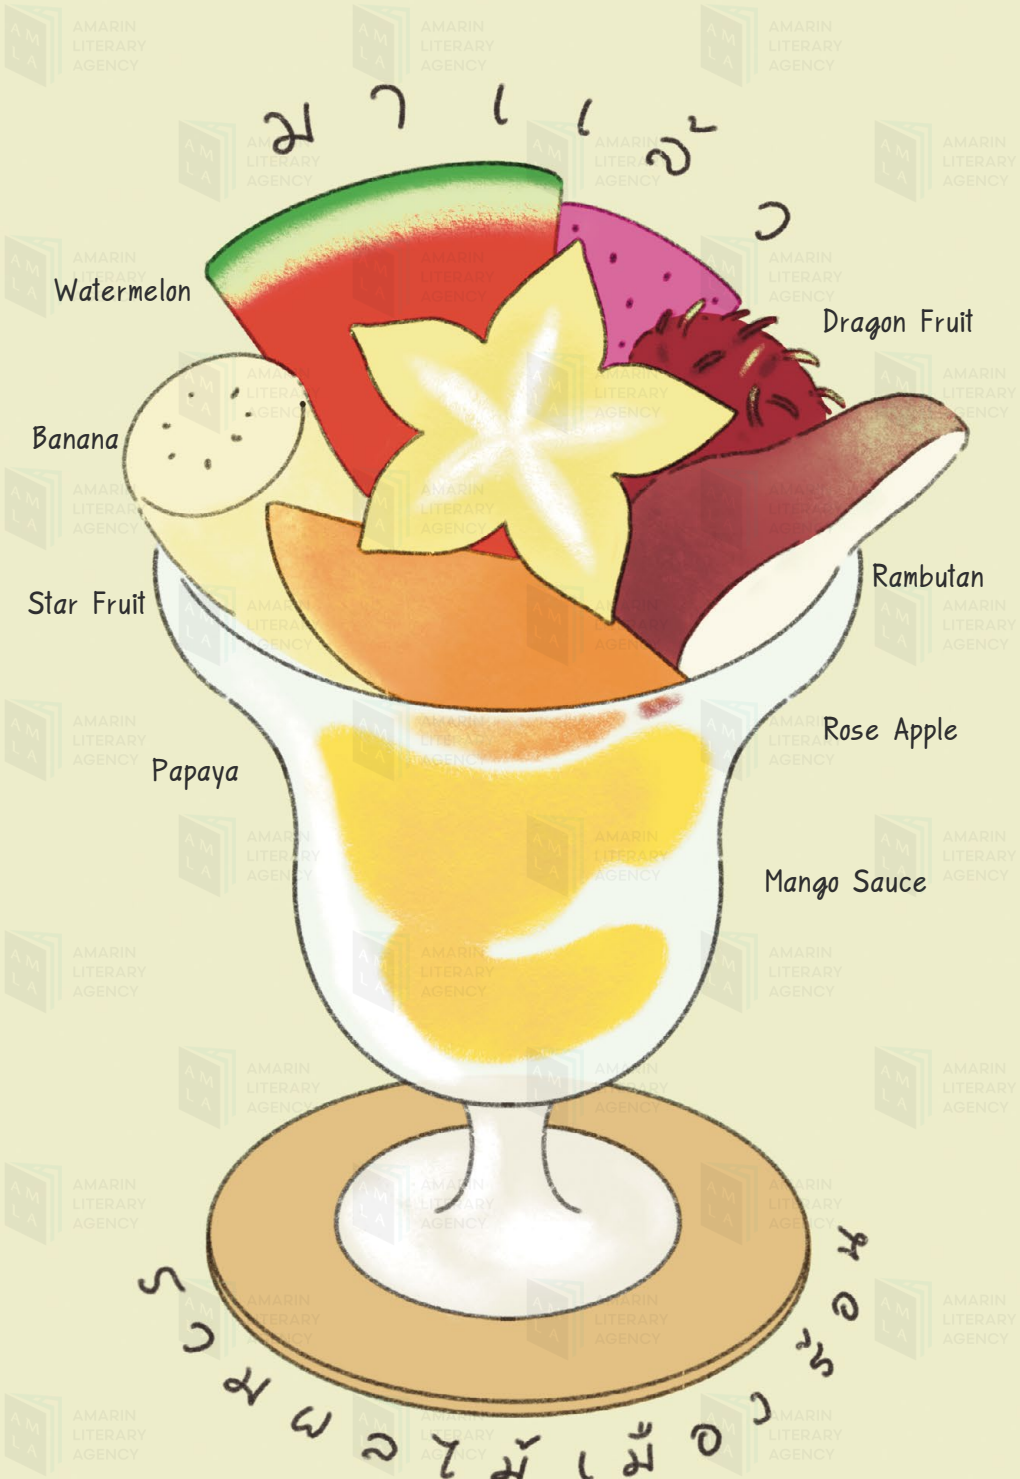

This is so hard...

Okay... here goes!

's of fruit

t

Watermelon

Dragon Fruit

Banana

Rambutan

Star Fruit

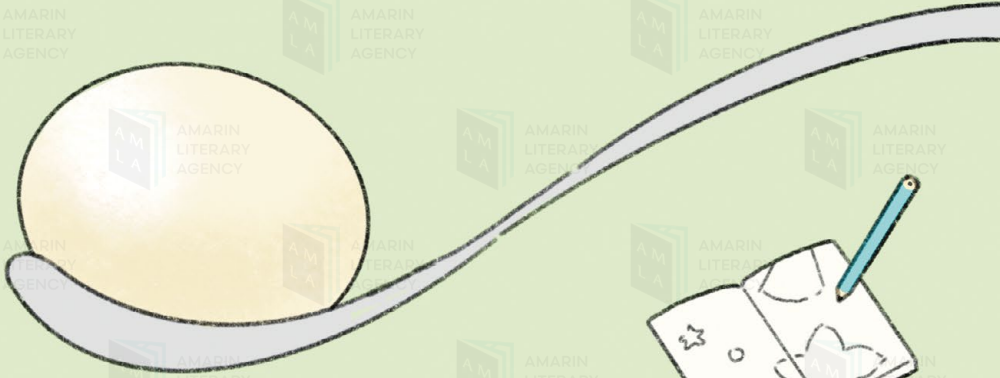

Rose Apple

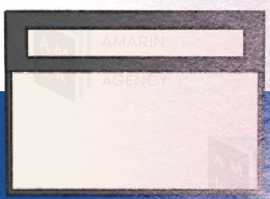

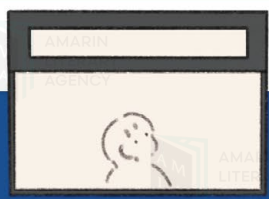

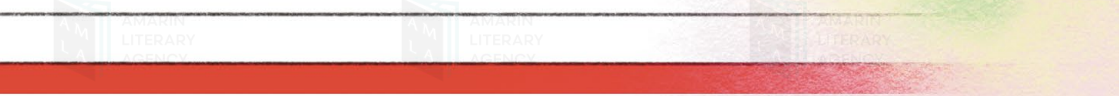

Papaya

Mango Sauce

Just eating this makes me want to create something of my own, too.

Now I can keep walking for miles.

I wonder if the birds think of us as part of the view, too.

Walking with Parn, I learned to recognize so many trees.

Over there is a Spider Lily

And that one is a Wishbone Flower.

Wait, is that...

it's a Yellow Flame Tree!

The papyrus over there is so beautiful,

just like a print.

I'll go take a closer look,

even if it means taking a long, winding detour.

It's so lovely.

A close-up illustration of the woman's face, showing her brown hair and a slightly flushed, pinkish complexion. She has a neutral expression. The background is the same light green color with the repeating 'AMARIN LITERARY AGENCY' logo pattern.

Actually,

A thousand choices
made this path.

To move without choosing is to stay in one place.

In that case, taking a little extra time with things...

...
...
is probably okay.

Secretly stopped by to grab some treats for later.

Kram's Brunch

The Day I Allowed Myself to Begin

Today, nothing has to be rushed.

My very first coffee drip set from when I started working.

The kettle that still makes me feel proud every time I look at it.

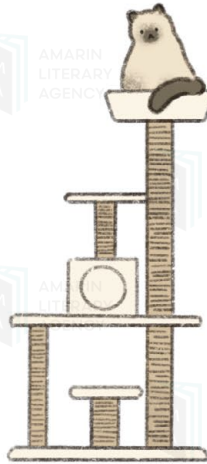

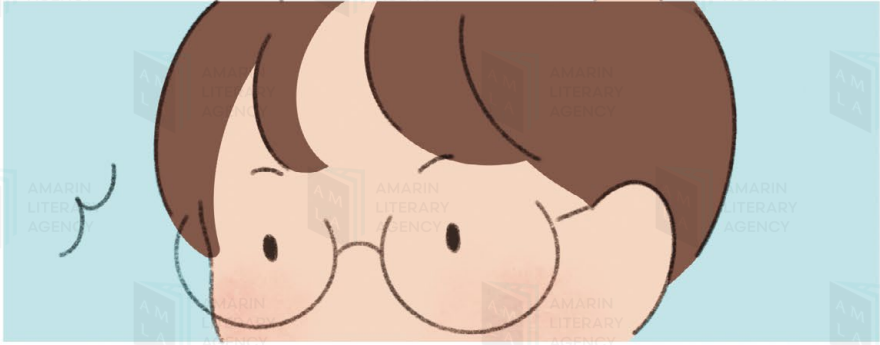

A "Cat-Frog" mug from my nephew. At first, I liked it just because she gave it to me. But before I knew it, I'd already bought a matching keychain to go with it.

Cat + Frog.

I didn't really plan much for this trip.

I'll just go with the flow today.

Just one more sip before
I head out.

And...
I'm off!

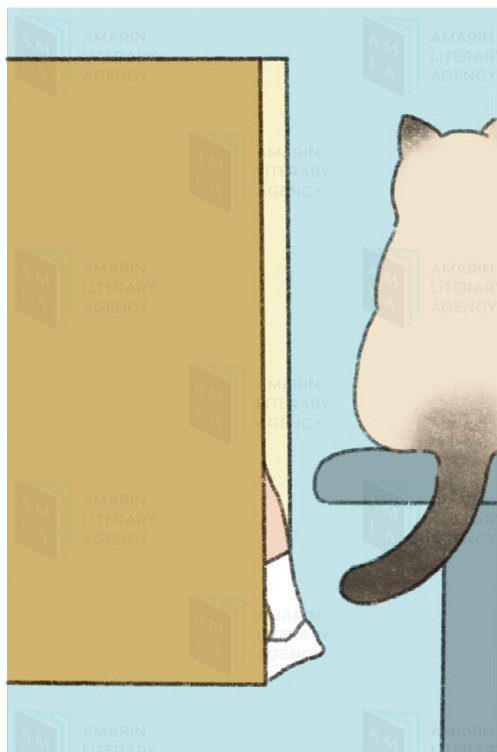

Mun-Phao (5 years old).

I adopted him from a local temple. I used to bring him food all the time before that. Compared to his siblings back then, he seemed like the weakest one. But look at him now—he's so incredibly arrogant!

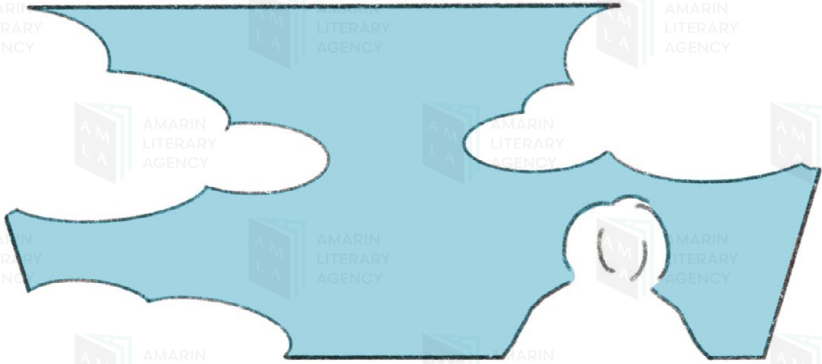

Okay, I'm really going now...

For real
this time!

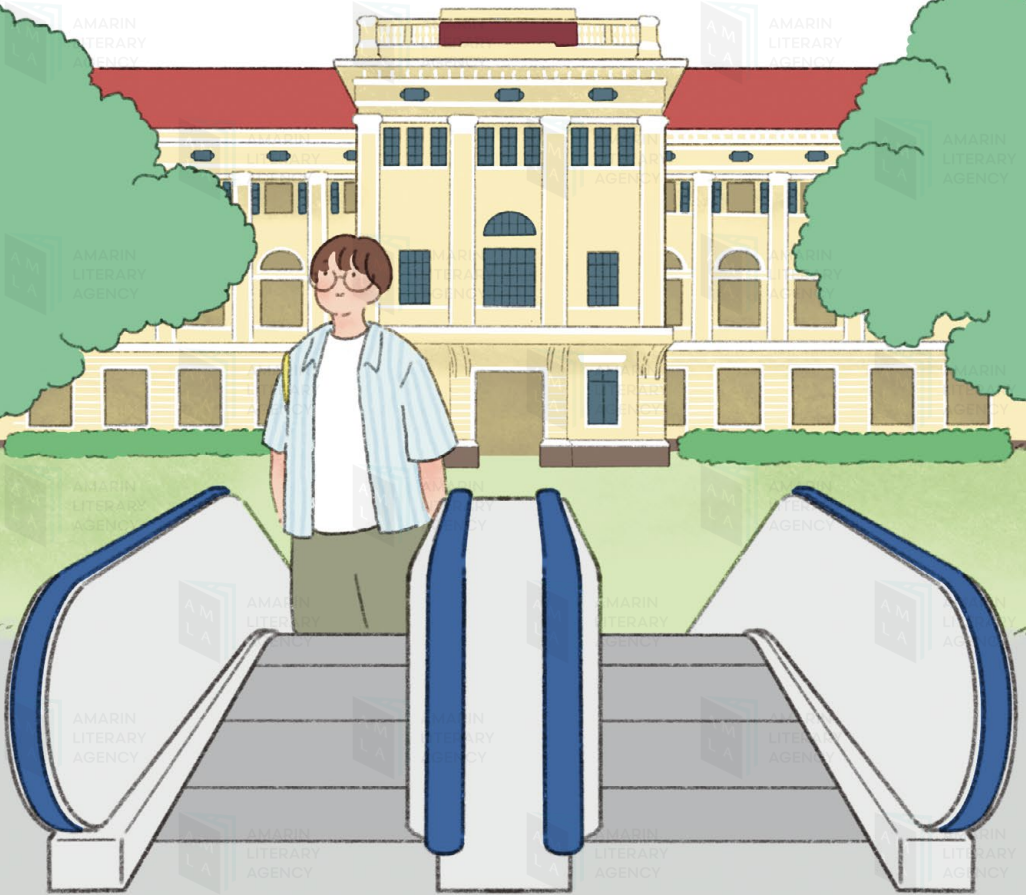

Finally, a day off after months of being busy!

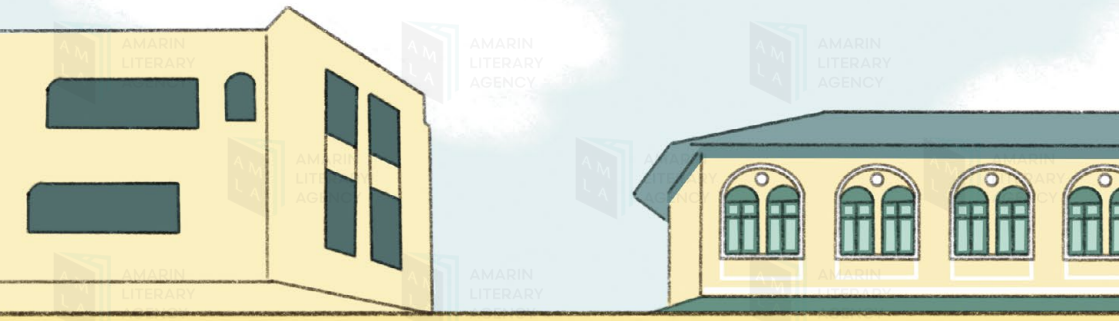

I haven't been here in ages.

Wait, I can just cut through here?
I didn't know this path connected like this!

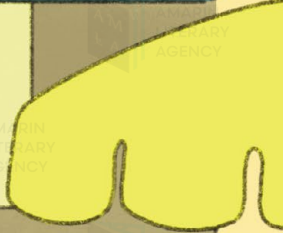

What should I have for my first meal of the day?

ผัดไทย นอกรอบ

This is it!

How long have you been selling this?

Over 30 years, I guess.

Wow! You're amazing.

Oh, it's nothing special. It's just what I was taught.

I chop every day,

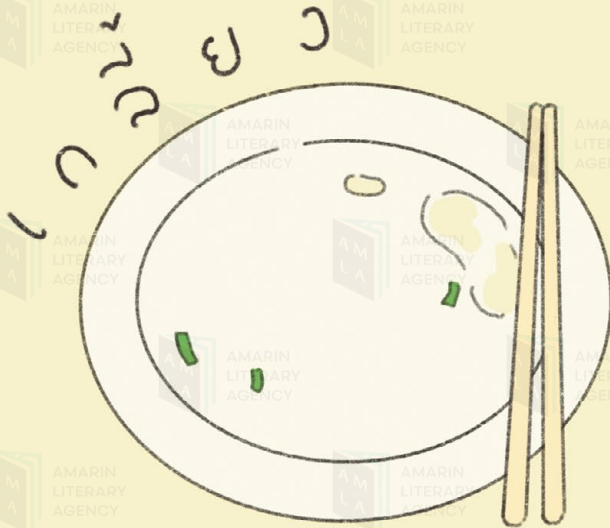

stir-fry every day.

and taste every day.

Anyone can become good at something if they do it every day.

I guess she's right.

Thinking back, I don't think I've ever made a serious choice for myself.

Honestly, there are things I can do reasonably well...

But... I want to find something I truly love and can do exceptionally well.

I found the first one!

Generation 1,

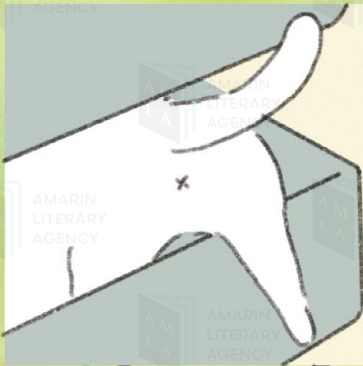

Generation 2,

Because there are so many cats here,
the temple actually provided proper litter boxes for them.

and Generation 3.

I couldn't even tell at first glance.

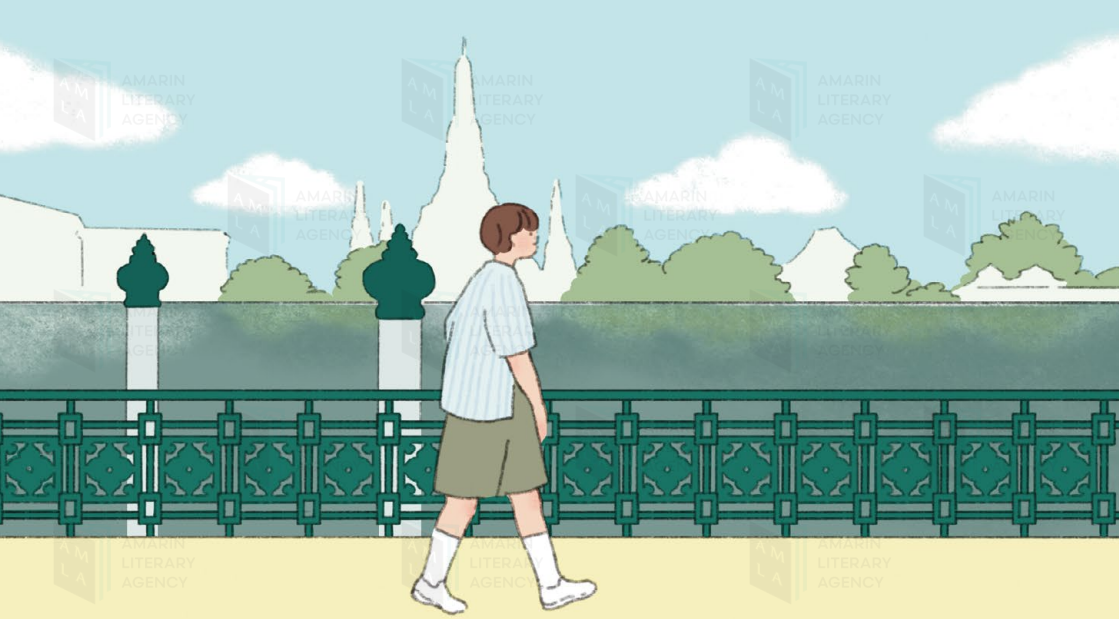

Oh, excuse me...

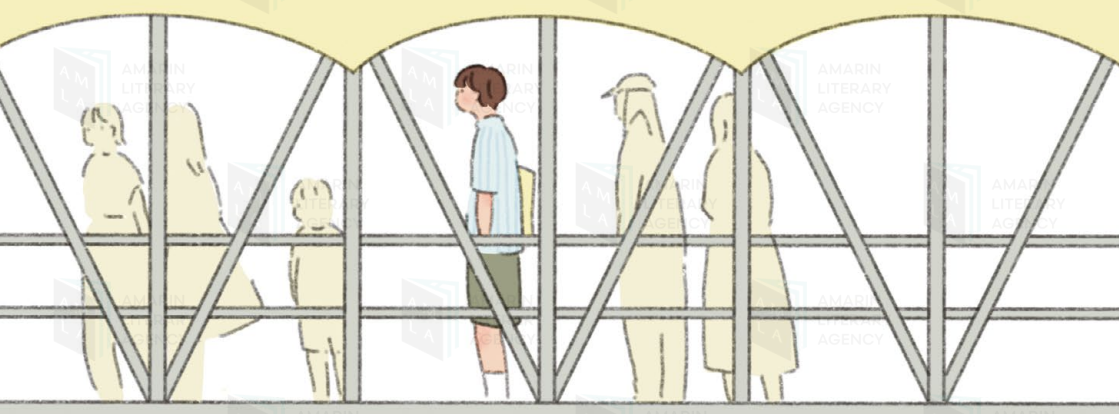

There are so many beautiful trees here.

I'll take a few photos for Mom.

Since I'm already here, I might as well see everything.

Is it really this massive?!

Wow, it's so steep!

I guess I need to start putting in some effort too.

Wowwww

Going down is even tougher than coming up!

Intense Thai Tea

Now that I'm here, I just have to try it.

and Butterfly Pea Coconut Milk with a hint of candle smoke aroma.

Even though the other flavor sounded interesting, I ended up choosing based on habit.

Wow, it really is intense!

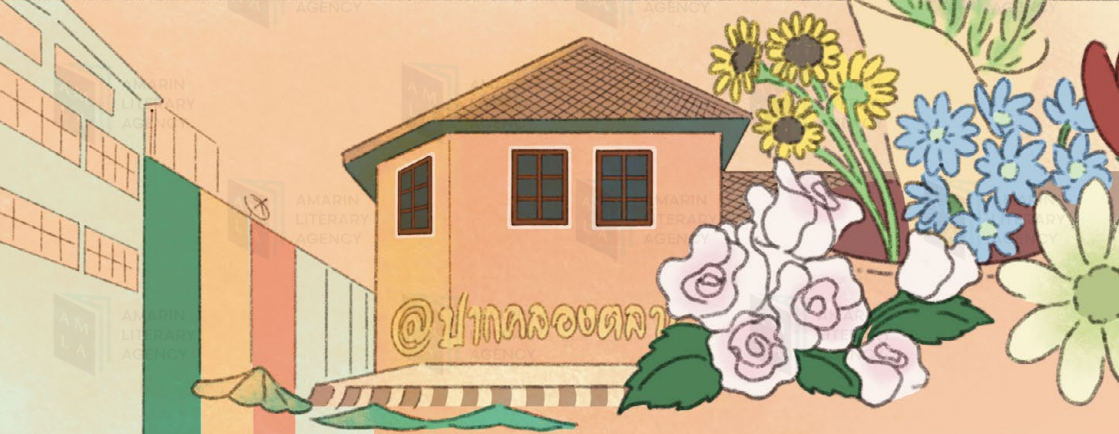

Beautiful things await you
สิ่งสวยงามกำลังรอคุณอยู่

The sky has changed its colors already.

I feel like I could walk so much further today.

This shop is so beautiful.

It looks like something interesting is happening inside.

It probably sells flowers like the other shops, and then...

Would you like to try blending your own perfume?

That sounds interesting.

May I join you here?

Have a seat!

It starts with choosing the scents
I like.

This one is citrusy
like an orange.

This one is floral.

This one smells familiar...

It reminds me of somewhere I've been...

something I've experienced.

Now that I think about it, I love coffee because of its aroma.

The scent that reminds me of starting a new day.

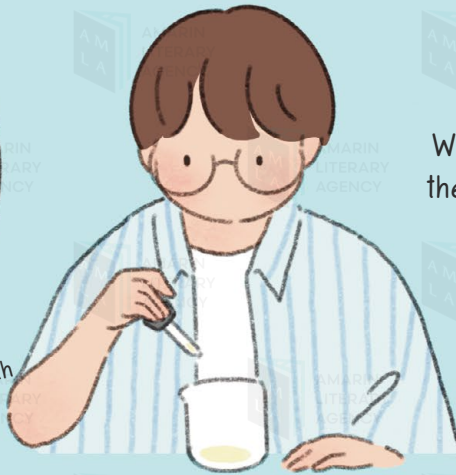

The scent of a festival floating in the air.

The scent of rain that makes my room feel more private.

Then, I mix the scents drop by drop.

What if I start with these things I like?

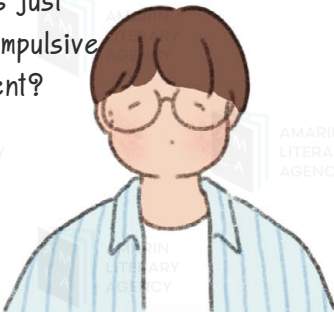

Let me help you with the proportions.

Maybe I can actually make something out of this.

And then, it goes into the bottle.

Is this just another impulsive moment?

No...

everything starts as an impulse. Until you do it over and over until you master it.

There's no harm in giving it a try.

Where should I go, though?

I'm almost out of bread.

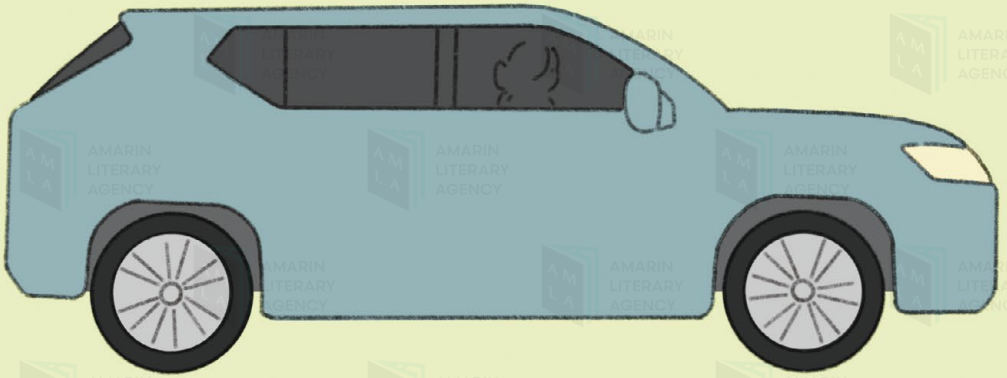

A woman with brown hair tied back, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt with a small red heart on the chest and a blue skirt, is kneeling on a light brown floor. She is holding a white bowl filled with brown kibble over a light blue pet feeder. To her right is a woven basket with a red and white polka-dot lining. In the bottom left corner, there is a drawing of a tortoiseshell cat.

Be a good girl
and stay home
for a bit, okay?

Chaba (10 years old).

She's my tortie daughter.

When she was a kitten, she was so tiny;
her head was no bigger than a hibiscus flower. Now, she's as big as a jackfruit!
But it's too late to change her name now.

The day the heart returns home.

It's so bright.

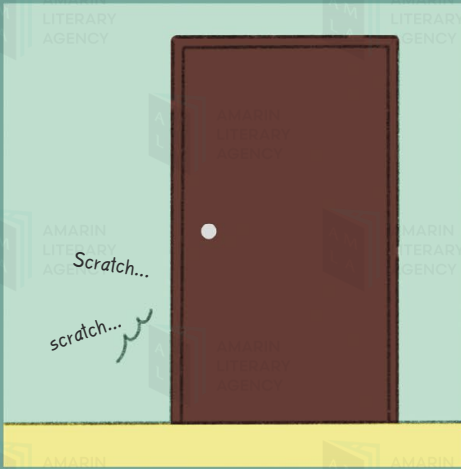

Has the clock stopped?

Did I really sleep in this late today?

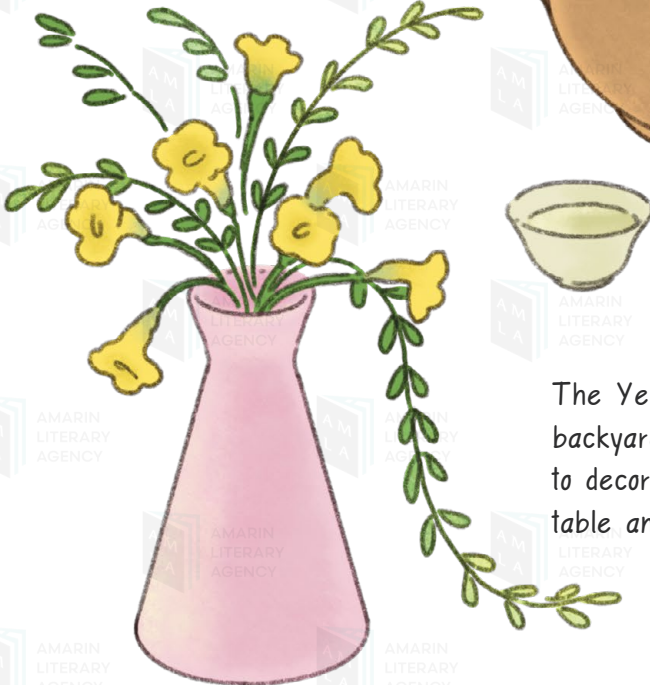

A good day starts with a long sleep.
Time to treat myself to a little luxury.

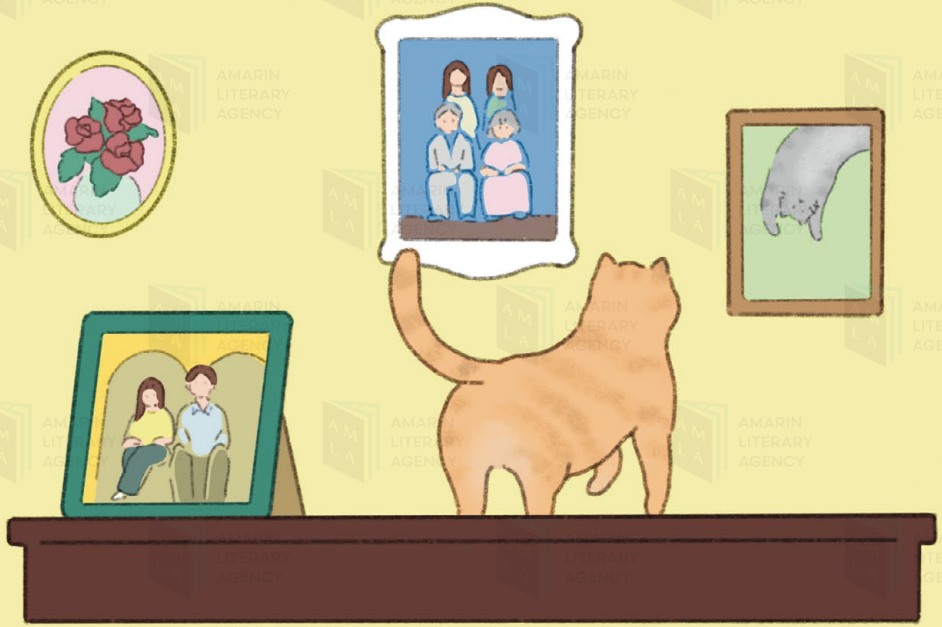

Longing tea from my favorite shop.

The teapot that's been with me since before I moved here.

The Yellow Elder in the backyard. I picked some to decorate the dining table and the altar.

Another year is almost over, isn't it?

I wonder how things are over there now.

Maybe I should go back for a visit.

Please keep an eye on them for me.

Look-Plub and Look-Gor (1 year old). Littermates adopted from a neighbor. They say ginger cats are a handful, and it's definitely true. But the tabby is quite a troublemaker too.

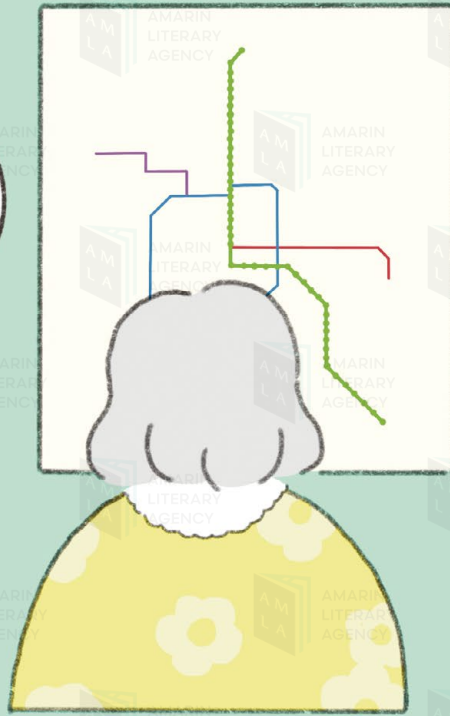

ลูกตาล (17 ขวบ)
แมวที่อยู่มานานที่สุดของครอกก่อน

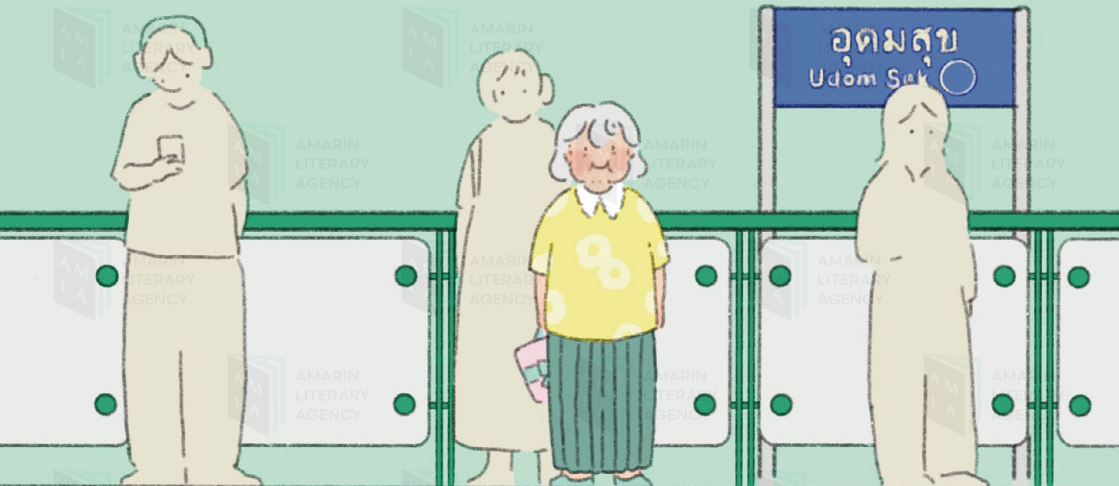

Look-Tarn (17 years old). The longest-residing member from the previous litter. Chompoo, Look-Tarn's mother, was a stray who brought her kittens to be born at my old house. Now, most of them are probably playing together somewhere on the Rainbow Bridge. While Look-Tarn is still here, doing her duty as the peacemaker between the two youngsters.

Making a transfer at this station.

Dark green line.

They say that if you hold your breath while crossing a bridge, your wish will come true.

In that case...

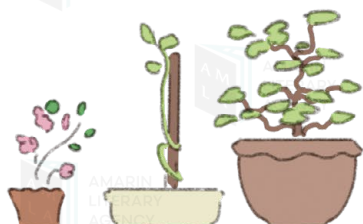

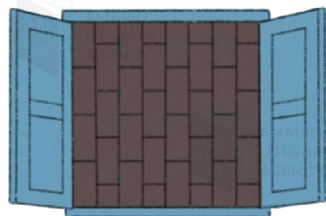

I wish for us to find it—

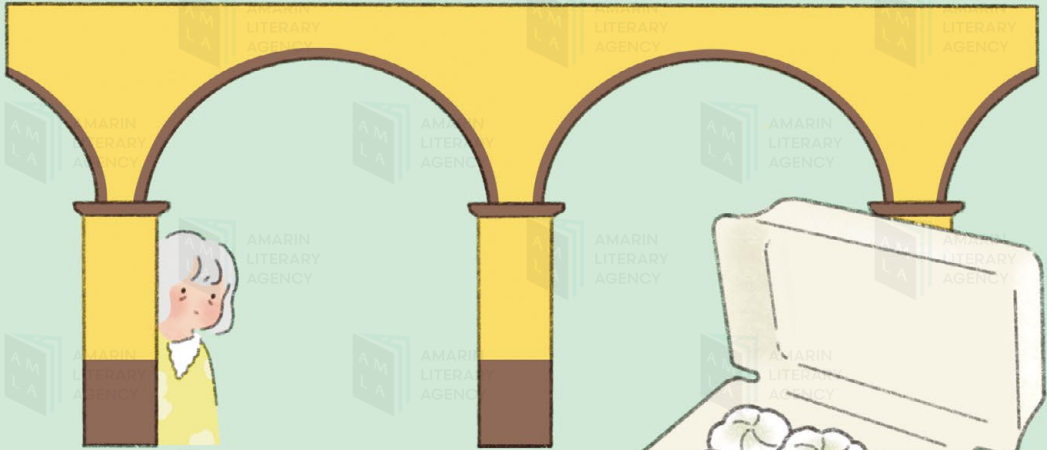

my home.

I remember there's a really good fish maw soup place around here.

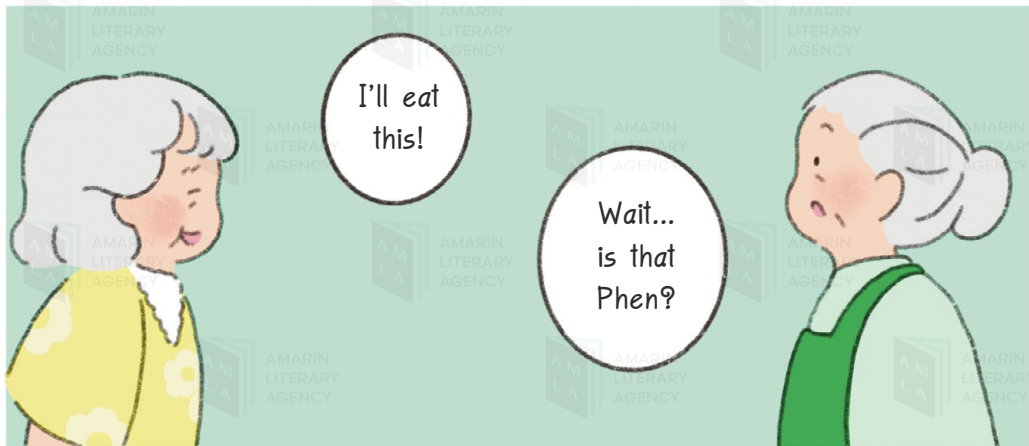

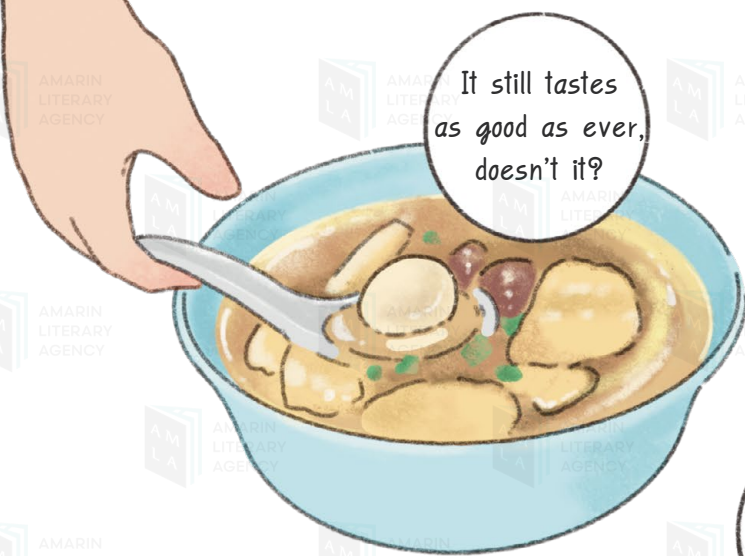

But before I could even get there, I got distracted by other food along the way.

Oh! Here it is.

It still tastes as good as ever, doesn't it?

You still remember? It's been over forty years, I think.

You're amazing—still being able to do this.

Well, you were amazing too.

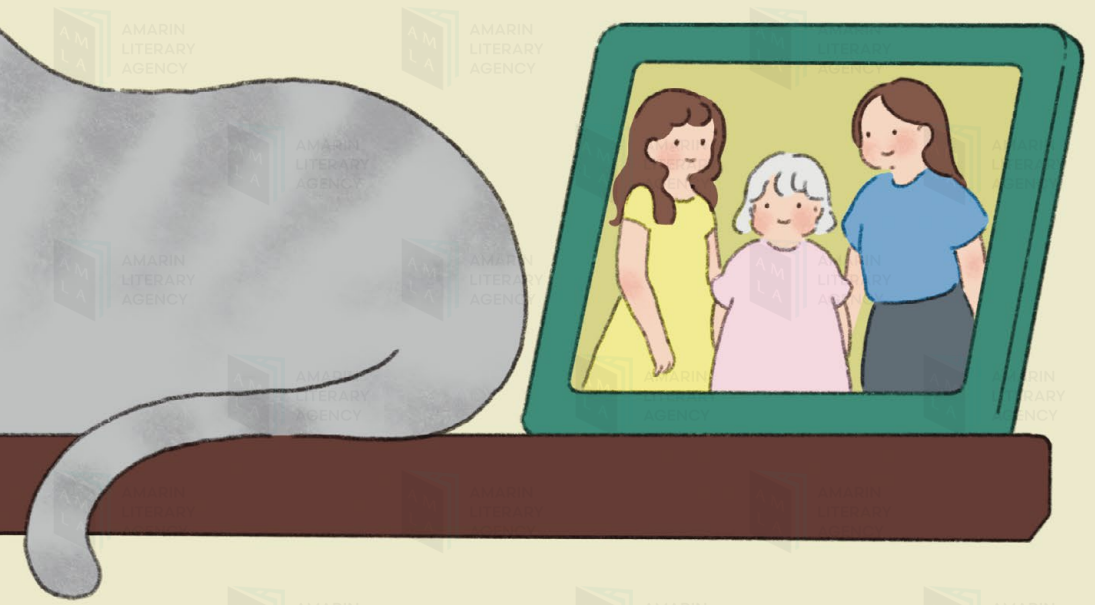

Back when you were the school cook, you could lift ten kilos of rice at a time.

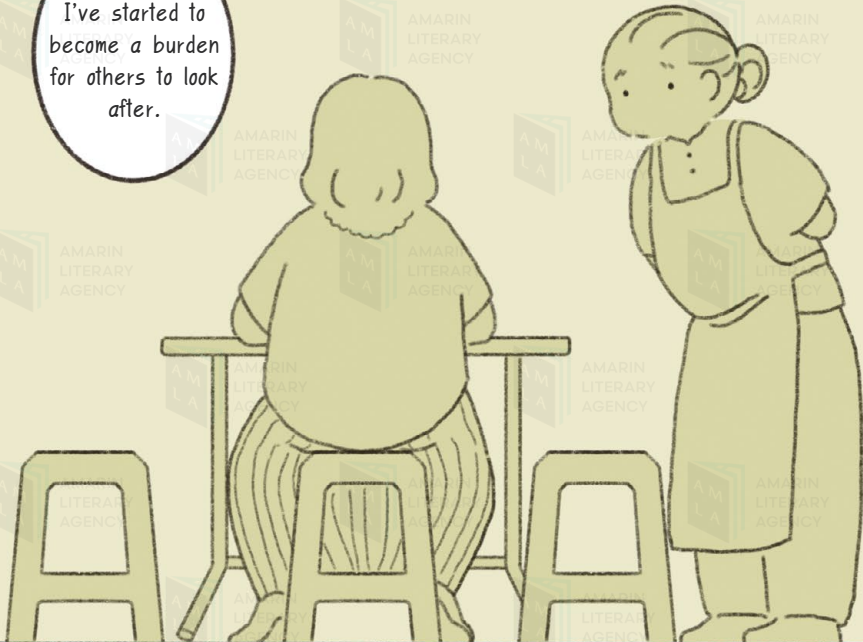

Cooking stir-fry for 200 people!

But I'm not 'amazing' anymore.

I've started to become a burden for others to look after.

What do you mean, 'burden'?

It's just time for you to take a break.

It's easy for you to say. Because you're still...

Here,

watch the shop for a second. I'll be right back.

What?!

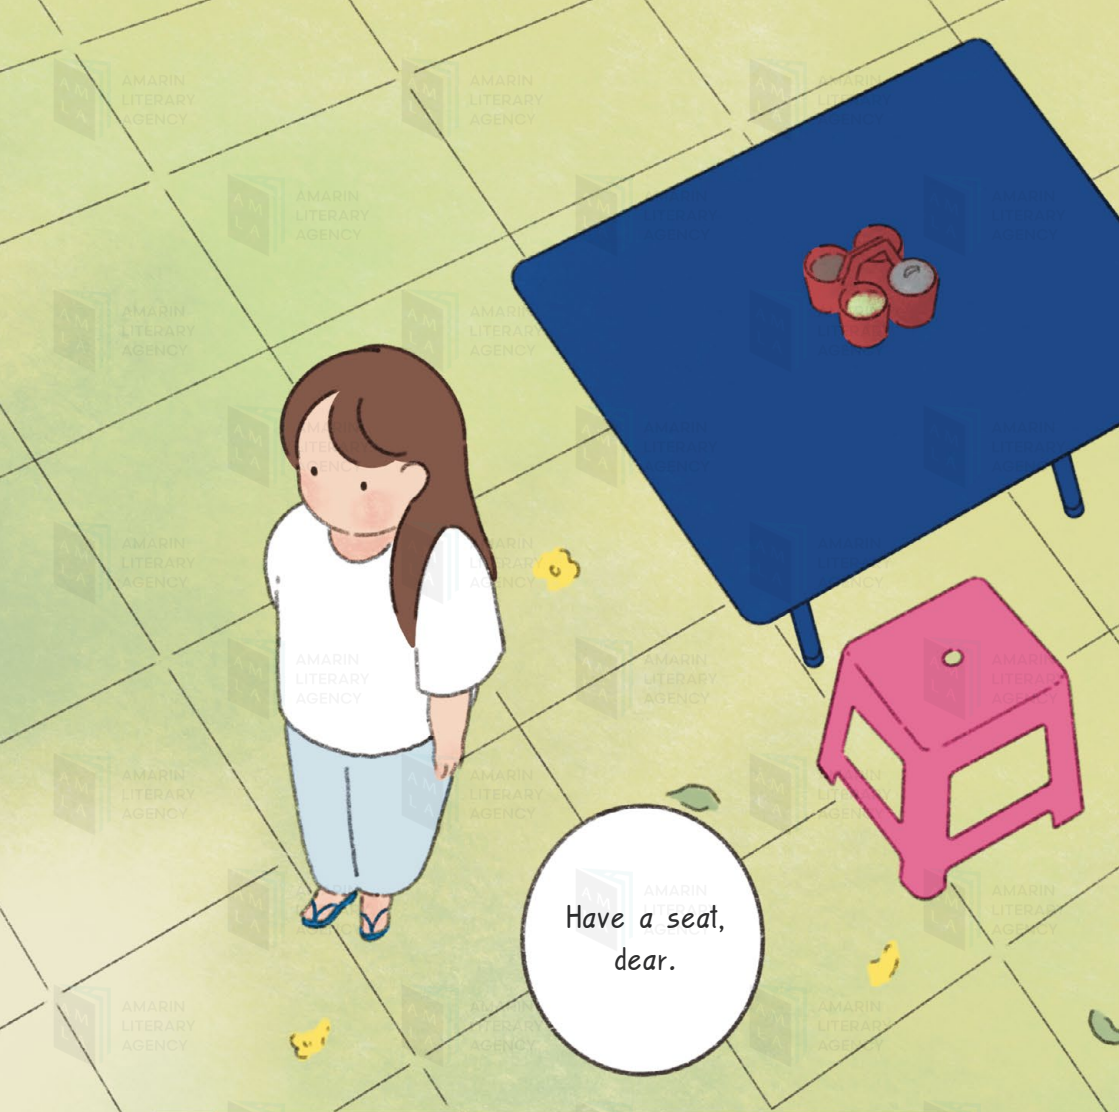

Here, please eat this, Grandma.

Um, actually, the owner of the shop...

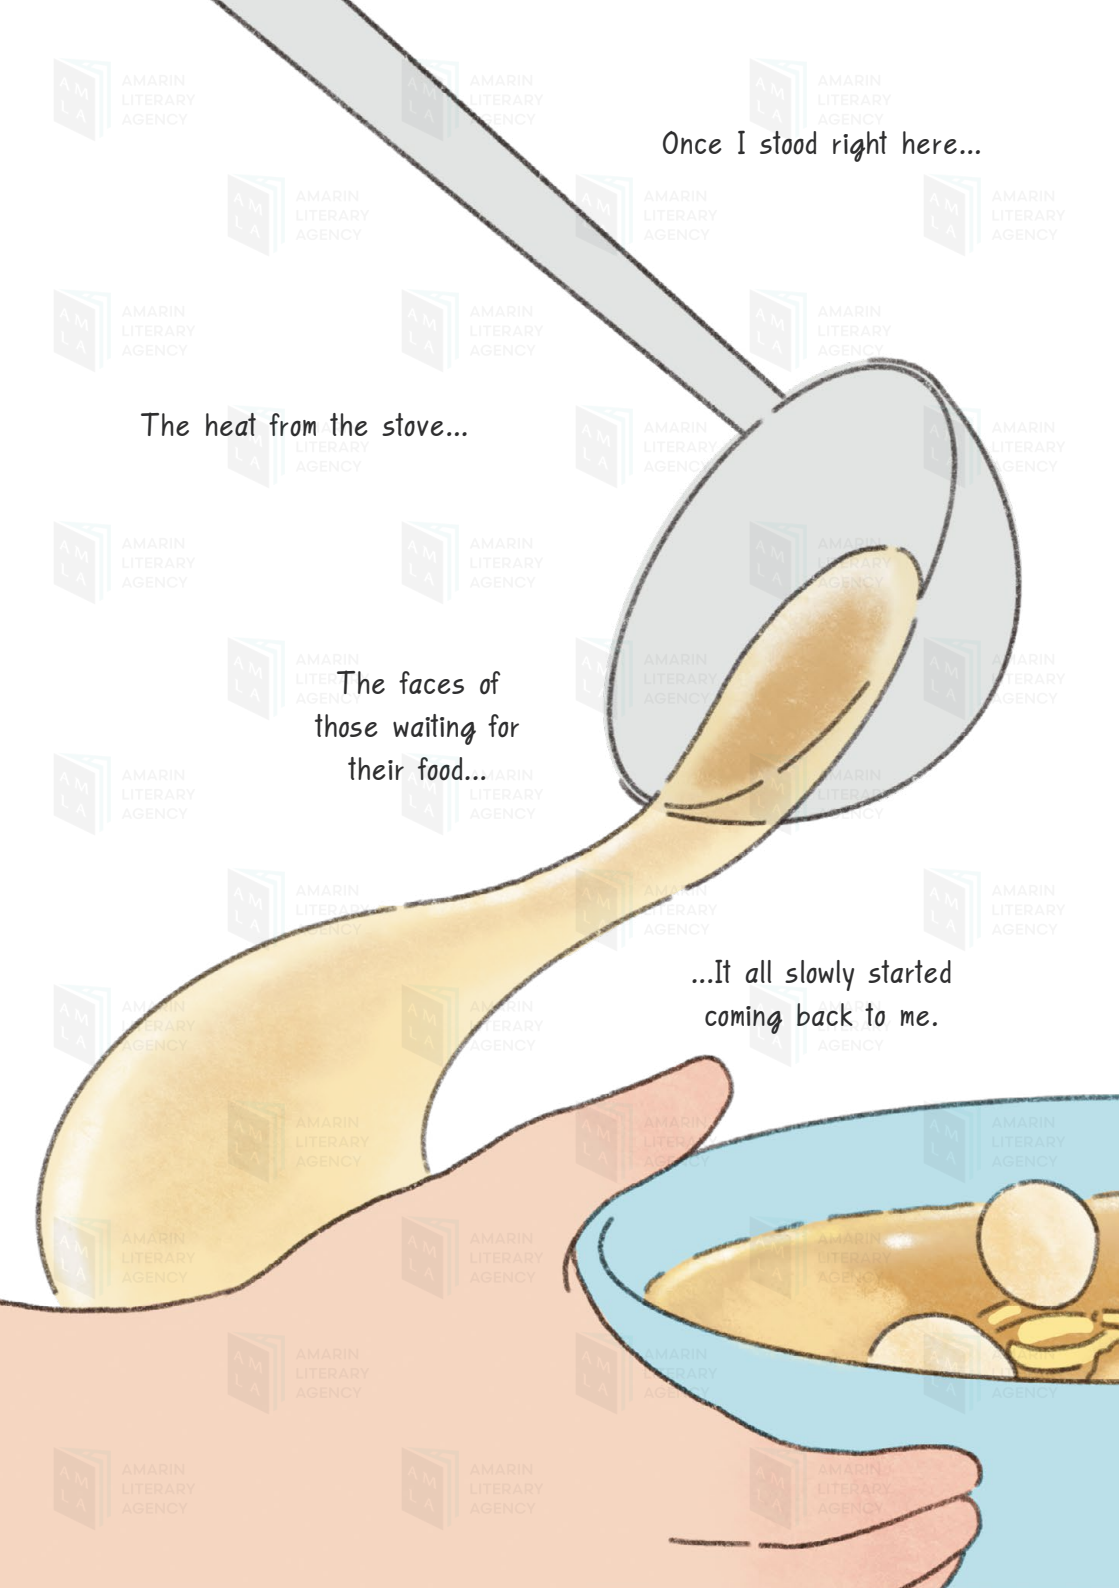

...Or maybe I should just do it?

Have a seat,
dear.

A hand is shown holding a large spoon over a bowl of food. The spoon is tilted, and a thick, golden-brown liquid is being poured from it into the bowl. The bowl contains some solid pieces of food, possibly dumplings or meatballs. The background is white with a repeating watermark of the text 'AMARIN LITERARY AGENCY' and a small logo.

Once I stood right here...

The heat from the stove...

The faces of those waiting for their food...

...It all slowly started coming back to me.

Because this is the way

our intentions are sent out to others once more.

That's enough!

Are you trying to take over my shop?

Oh, come on...

let me do just a little more.

Bua gave me some White Chrysanthemum
cuttings to plant, too.

Everything that poured out while I was walking.

The people who passed through my life.

The feeling that 'at least for now, everything is okay' after a full meal.

All of these things are slowly leading me closer to what I've been searching for.
